2.1. Enable/Disable Auto Transfer for an Individual Account

Option 1: Via Transfer function

- Go to Main Menu > Transfer > Transfer:

- Add filters to get your desired report:

- Username: search for a specific username or similar ones.
- Status: display accounts with the desired status (All, Open, Suspended, Closed, or Disabled).
- Auto Transfer: view accounts with Auto Transfer enabled, disabled, or all accounts.
- All yesterday balance: show all accounts with yesterday's balance equal to 0 and not equal to 0.

- To enable/disable Auto Transfer, click the Auto Transfer toggle:

If you cannot find the Auto Transfer toggle switch, it is because All Day Balance Transfer is enabled for your account, which prevents you from using any functions of Auto Transfer.

- You can either enable or disable Auto Transfer for your downlines:
  - Enable Auto Transfer for an account.

➢ When you enable Auto Transfer for an account, you can set up an Auto Transfer schedule for this account by selecting the available dates based on your transfer condition.

– Disable Auto Transfer for an account.

➢ When you disable Auto Transfer for an account, the current Auto Transfer schedule will be cleared.

- Change Auto Transfer schedule: If Auto Transfer is enabled for an account, a calendar will appear next to the toggle switch. It displays the current schedule as a reference (e.g. Wed-Fri).

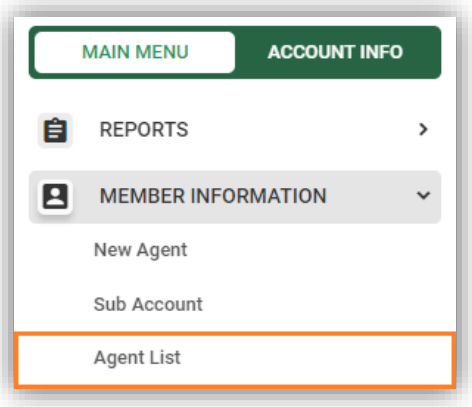

– To change the current Auto Transfer schedule, click the calendar and select the desired dates to define the new transfer schedule. To quickly select all dates, click the 'Select All' checkbox. Once you've made the necessary changes, click "OK" to save the new Auto Transfer schedule or "Cancel" to exit without changes.

Option 2: Via Agent List

- Go to Main Menu > Member Information > Agent List:

- Under the Status column, click the status (Open) and select Auto Transfer:

- Once enabled, the process will proceed as described in enabling Auto Transfer for an account.
- Here are a few notes when using Auto Transfer:
  - To ensure the accuracy of data while the Auto Transfer process is in progress, you cannot transfer to your downline whose Auto Transfer is enabled.
  - During Auto Transfer process runtime, you cannot disable Auto Transfer until the process is completed.
  - If you enable Auto Transfer during its runtime, the Auto Transfer process will run at the next scheduled time according to your Auto Transfer schedule.
  - Auto Transfer is not supported in All Day Balance Transfer mode. When All Day Balance Transfer is enabled for your account, the Auto Transfer configuration for your downlines will be disabled and the Auto Transfer schedule will be cleared to maintain data accuracy.

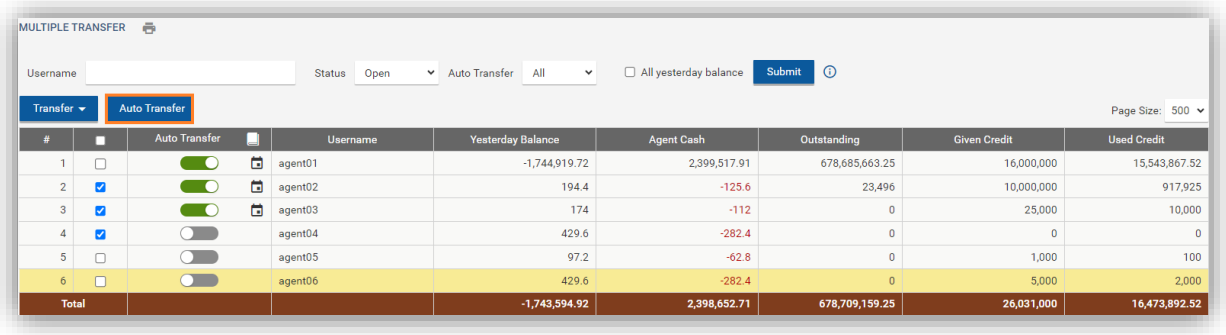

2.2. Enable/Disable Auto Transfer for Multiple Accounts

Option 1: Via Transfer function

- Go to Main Menu > Transfer > Transfer:

- To enable/disable Auto Transfer for multiple accounts at once, select the desired accounts, then click the Auto Transfer button:

– Case 2: All selected accounts are currently disabled.

➢ Enabling Auto Transfer for multiple disabled accounts allows you to set up an Auto Transfer schedule for these accounts by selecting the available dates based on your transfer condition.

– Case 3: All selected accounts, regardless of their current enabled or disabled state.

➢ If accounts with different Auto Transfer states (enabled or disabled) are selected, the "Update Auto Transfer Schedule" screen will display two separate sections, one for enabled accounts and one for disabled accounts. This allows you to update the Auto Transfer schedule for multiple accounts simultaneously, regardless of their current Auto Transfer status.

  ➢ If the account has any dates in its current schedule that still work with the new transfer condition: Auto Transfer will remain enabled and only the days that do not work with the new transfer condition will be removed.

– "Disable Auto Transfer for all downlines and CLEAR the Auto Transfer schedule".

  ➢ Selecting this option will disable Auto Transfer for all downlines, and clear their Auto Transfer schedules.
